TRAMWAY

Block is a local screen printing project that begins at a tenement block in Govanhill and leads to Tramway.

The project brings together local people, local organisations and Tramway to meet, share food and ideas, and create a series of limited edition screen prints exhibited in local organisations forming a walk from the Block to Tramway.

Project participants come from the local area and have been involved in meals, print design workshops, and tours at different organisations and art spaces. The screen prints were made at Glasgow Print Studios.

The prints will be given away to people and organisations to be exhibited in their homes and spaces indefinitely.

Massive thanks to Penny and everyone at The Well; Anne and the young people at Community Renewal; Gabby and Angela at MILK Café; Jim at Govanhill Baths; the amazing Glasgow Open House team; Ranjit's Kitchen; the Bike Station; Glasgow Print Studios; Jo and Holly at Tramway; Michella Perera; and everyone else who has helped.

The prints were designed and made by Zarena, Jade, Justine, Moira, Irene, Theresa, Flora, Marjorie and many more. Thank you so much!

Block is a Tramway local commission by Beth Shapeero. Tramway is an international art-space that works with artists and communities to produce contemporary arts projects and programmes to engage, challenge and inspire the widest possible audience.
